

SA AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS AND THE USA AGOA: THE PROBLEMS WITH TRQs<sup>1</sup>

On 8-digit tariff level, the US tariff book is often composed such that the same product could fall in three tariff lines:

- A tariff line for imports for Government and related use
- A tariff line subject to country-allocated quotas
- A tariff line for imports not intended for government use, and above the quota levels and allocations stated in the second tariff line, i.e. “other”.

Typically:

- The tariffs on the first two tariff lines would be quite low, whereas that on the third tariff line they would be high and in some cases prohibitive.
- South Africa would qualify for GSP and/or AGOA treatment (i.e. duty-free entry into the US market) on the first two tariff lines, but not for exports of the third tariff line.

South Africa does not enjoy a dedicated country allocation of any of the quotas (except raw sugar), therefore, with respect to exports in the second tariff line of any given group of three, SA exports will typically be classified into the “other countries” classification, which is issued on a first-come-first-served basis. Once those (normally small) quotas are filled, SA exports are classified into the third of the tariff lines, where:

- It does not qualify for preferences such as GSP or AGOA
- It faces high or prohibitive tariffs.

Specific cases, per product, are listed in the table below.

described in this note shall not be counted against the quantity specified as the in-quota quantity for any such product in such chapters:

- (a) such products imported by or for the account of any agency of the U.S. Government;
- (b) such products imported for the personal use of the importer, provided that the net quantity of such product in any one shipment does not exceed 5 kilograms;
- (c) such products, which will not enter the commerce of the United States, imported as samples for taking orders, for exhibition, display or sampling at a trade fair, for research, for use by embassies of foreign governments or for testing of equipment, provided that written approval of the Secretary of Agriculture or his designated representative the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) is presented at the time of entry;
- (d) blended syrups containing sugars derived from sugar cane or sugar beets, capable of being further processed or mixed with similar or other ingredients, and not prepared for marketing to the ultimate consumer in the identical form and package in which imported, provided that, subject to approval of the Foreign Trade Zones Board, such syrups are manufactured in and entered from a U.S. foreign trade zone by a foreign trade zone user whose facilities were in operation on June 1, 1990, to the extent that the annual quantity entered into the customs territory from such zone does not contain a quantity of sugar of non-domestic origin greater than that authorized by the Foreign Trade Zones Board for processing in the zones during calendar year 1985; and
- (e) cotton entered under the provisions of U.S. note 6 to subchapter III of chapter 99 and subheadings 9903.52.00 through 9903.52.26, inclusive.

In applying to USDA for approval under subdivision (c) of this note, the importer must identify the product, quantity and intended use of the goods for which exemption is sought. USDA may seek additional information and specify such conditions of entry as it deems necessary to ensure that the product will not enter the commerce of the United States. The Secretary of Agriculture shall carry out the provisions of this note in consultation with the United States Trade Representative.

* This deals with price- and volume-based safeguard measures in terms of the WTO Agreement on Agriculture. It specifies the additional duties when such products enter the US market at a time when safeguard measures are effective. These include duties of as much as 55%, in addition to the import duties normally applied.
